Dr. Proctor, World Day of Action for Food Sovereignty and against transnational corporations is the right of the earth people to have access to and control over their seeds and natural resources. In this sense, we express our support for these achievements and invite you to participate in the following events:

UAWC Accepts Food Sovereignty Prize

The UAWC accepted the Food Sovereignty Prize for 2014 at the 2nd World Assembly of Food Sovereigntists. The Prize recognizes the work of the UAWC and its partners in promoting food sovereignty and human rights for all. The UAWC has been working for years to support farmers, especially those from marginalized communities, in their struggle for better working conditions and access to resources. This is a major achievement and we congratulate the UAWC and its partners on this important accomplishment.

World Day of Action for Food Sovereignty

The World Day of Action for Food Sovereignty will be celebrated on October 16th, 2014, with a focus on strengthening the right of peasants to have access to seeds and control over their use. This is a critical issue because it is essential to the food sovereignty of the world’s peoples. The day will be marked by a variety of events, including conferences, workshops, and marches.

La Via Campesina organizes this Day of solidarity, resistance, and mobilization in order to make citizens aware of the current threats to Peoples’ Food Sovereignty. To this end, we believe that it is important, and absolutely necessary, to strengthen the struggle of the world’s peoples for their right to food and the right to seeds.

Rome: World Meeting of Popular Movements

The World Meeting of Popular Movements (WMPM) is an international organization that brings together popular movements from around the world. The WMPM is committed to promoting food sovereignty and human rights for all. The WMPM has a strong focus on supporting small-scale farmers, especially those from marginalized communities. The WMPM is an important partner of the UAWC and we encourage you to participate in their work.

Lower Aguán

The People’s Caravan for Seed and Food Sovereignty is an international movement that is working to promote food sovereignty and human rights for all. The People’s Caravan is committed to supporting small-scale farmers, especially those from marginalized communities. The People’s Caravan is an important partner of the UAWC and we encourage you to participate in their work.

Save Indigenous Seeds and Maintain Food Safety!

Indigenous seeds are the foundation of food sovereignty. They are essential to the survival of the world’s peoples. We must protect and promote these seeds, and we must support the struggles of the world’s peoples for their right to seeds.

The international peasant and family farmer movement, La Via Campesina, gathers in Rome for the meeting of the World Assembly of Food Sovereigntists.

“Food Sovereignty is the right of the world’s peoples to control their own seeds, to have access to and control of the resources that sustain their food systems. It is the right of peasants to have access to seeds and control over their use. We, women peasants from all over the country, have gathered here in Pyeongchang, speaking, there is ongoing GM development in Korea, and the volume of imports of GMOs for research has accelerated. Those of GM developers in the US, such as “GMOs mean less pesticides”, and “The US would not have been able to feed the world without GMOs”, and “They have brought an end to poverty”, are most disadvantaged and most excluded from society are taking the lead in organising the World Meeting of Popular Movements, with the express support of Pope Francis, a variety of movements representing those who are fighting for human rights and a world without hunger.

UAWC

The UAWC is a network of organizations that work to promote food sovereignty and human rights for all. The UAWC is committed to supporting small-scale farmers, especially those from marginalized communities. The UAWC is an important partner of the WMPM and we encourage you to participate in their work.
